SILENCE, THE BETTER PART.

Tuesday's Oregonian contained a reprint of a gratuitous insult from the Rainier Review. It was a needless reflection upon the pilots of the Columbia bar, domiciled and doing business from this city, and found publicity only through the willingness of the Oregonian to republish it; but that concession did not serve to mitigate the wanton character of the original insolence, but rather emphasized it and involved two papers instead of one.

The gist of the screed was that the Astoria pilots were living and operating under the advantage of a raw graft; that the pilots were individually and collectively dominated by the liquor interests of this city; that the latter were the front and culmination of the outrage perpetrated by the pilots; the entire yarn presenting an ignorant and purposeful spleen on the part of the editor of the Review that cannot be accounted for on any other hypothesis than that he is so welded to the graft-caste of the state; so intimately allied with the cult he is not able to dissociate anyone else from the doctrine of theft. It was false to its last syllable and became effective only through the willingness of the Oregonian to reproduce it.

There is no graft in, nor about, the pilot commission of the state, nor in the work or structure of the Columbia River Bar Pilots' Association; the former is a statutory body, exercising functions fixed by law, and the same law establishes the sum of fees to be charged by the pilots for their services on the bar; the latter organization owns its own pilot schooner and uses it in the service of the state without compensation and outfits and repairs it at the association's own expense; they are, in the main, men of family, capable, fearless and adroit, masters of their calling, and thoroughly respected citizens, and they have not yet indulged in liquor to an extent of a single sacrifice of the immense trusts confined to them daily through the years of their service.

The liquor interests of Astoria do not dominate, interfere, nor have part or parcel, in the conduct of the pilotage business of the port, nor have they ever sought such a leverage, and as an element of local trade receive nothing from the commissioners or the Pilots' Association, save what of patronage the members of either body shall, individually, elect to indulge in.

The Rainier Review was indeed hard pressed for something nasty to say of Astoria when it uttered the causeless and senseless stuff alluded to, and gave conspicuous evidence of its lick-spittle devotion to the big paper at Portland from which it takes its cue on this and other matters. It has lied, that is all!

GATHERING OF THE HOSTS.

The gathering of the state militia in its entirety at the forts at the mouth of the Columbia, during the present month, for training and practice in the different arms and drills of the military service of the country, and under the able and valuable oversight of the officers of the regular army, is a matter of supreme significance and decided advantage, and should be appreciated by the populace generally, since it is all done in behalf of the people, and is a long step in perfecting the scheme and scope of their defense in the event of trouble.

Especially is it true in the matter of great gun practice and all that relates to the artillery department of the service. To quote a prominent officer of this branch who was lately discussing this particular field of operation, "there are 20,000 men employed in this arm of the country's service where there should be 60,000," and that the Oregon militia is to be put in skilled touch with this deficient element of duty, is a distinct contribution to the good of the laches he referred to; and it behooves not only the guardsmen of the state to make the best use of the opportunity at their hand for excellent training in this important school of action, but it is equally obligatory on the ordinary citizen to study the situation and do all in his province to create a sentiment toward the rehabilitation of the artillery force and equipment of the country.

The maneuvers and practices that will engage the guardsmen at Forts Columbia, and Stevens, and those at Seaside, will have the benefit of the best skill and knowledge investing the army officers stationed there and nothing will be left undone to make the season one of great profit to the ardent young soldiers banded in the service of Oregon. And by way of enhancing the pleasure and interest of the course, numerous and valuable prizes will be awarded for proficiency in all branches of skilled duty. So that any way one looks at the projected gathering of the National Guard in this section next week, it is certain to prove effective and deeply interesting to all concerned directly and indirectly.

TRIAL PROLONGED

Will be Several Days Longer Than Announced.

STENOGRAPHER TESTIFIES

Foundation Laid by This Testimony Will Be Used by Defense To Convince Jury of Widespread Plan to Wreck Western Federation.

BOISE, Ida., July 2.—Commencing the seventh day of direct examination of its witnesses this morning the defense in the trial of William D. Haywood bids fair to exceed by several days its promise to close within eight days after the opening speaker.

The foundation laid by the testimony of the former stenographer of the Pinkerton agency who, to use his own words, "gave back to the rightful owners," the secrets entrusted to him by his employers, will be used today and on it will be built the structure by which the defense hopes to convince the jury and the public that there has been a widespread conspiracy to wreck the Western Federation and convict its officers of murder. Judge Wood has ruled that the defense may go into a conspiracy only so far as its ramifications extend into the states of Colorado and Idaho. Counsel for the defense, however, state that they can show a conspiracy extending through many states in the union and intended to affect union labor everywhere and they propose to get the whole thing before the jury.

Counsel for the prosecution this morning say that while they made no objection to the introduction of Pinkerton reports affecting the Federation, and even asked for more the matter introduced has failed to show that the Pinkertons were employed or retained by the mine owners or citizens alliance of Colorado. Consequently they say that the foundation not having been laid for the conspiracy which the defense has alleged, they will resist any further introduction of any similar evidence as to conspiracy in any other state.

The defense today will continue the Colorado story in which Orchard told of the proposal to blow up a union boarding house at Globeville, just outside of Denver. In this he incriminated a number of people including Max Malich, who is expected to be one of the witnesses today. The visit of Orchard to Wallace, where he swore he discussed with Dave Coates, a former lieutenant Governor of Colorado and at that time a newspaper publisher at Wallace, on the subject of kidnapping one of August Paulson's children, may also be taken up today. Mr. Coates, who has been here several weeks, has given out several interviews in which he has denied Orchard's story absolutely and promised to develop some new features in the case. He will be closely cross-examined by the state. It is from Wallace that the defense will commence the contradiction of Orchard so far as his story of the murder of Steunenberg is concerned. The effort will be to show that Orchard already having a private grudge against Steunenberg, secured enough money from August Paulsen to enable him to make a "get away" after he killed Steunenberg, but he bungled his plans. If the defense can close by the end of this week it is possible that Haywood and Moyer will take the stand on Friday and Saturday, but Haywood's expected to take up at least a couple of days, the direct testimony for the defense is not expected to close before Monday or Tuesday of next week.

AT THE WALDORF THIS WEEK

A WONDERFUL SHOW WHICH SHOULD NOT BE MISSED—AN ENTIRE CHANGE OF BILL.

Do you want to laugh? Do you want to be amused? Do you want to see a really clever and funny entertainment? Well go to the Waldorf show. It's good, it's clever, and it's very, very laughable from start to finish. You know what some of these shows are? Dull, stupid and vulgar without being amusing, and a lot of old sticks on the stage who can neither act nor sing. Once in a while you strike something that's really good; where there is both good singing and histrionic ability. And THIS is the time when the two are combined. It is seldom indeed that on a vaudeville stage you can see such an excellent array of really good things. From the rise of the curtain till the fall it was a rare success—this new company which started Monday night. The jokes are new and clever—there is not a stale item on the bill; and the singing is in every instance away above the class usually heard at a vaudeville houses.

WILL BE REPRESENTED.

NEW YORK, July 2.—A Worcester, Mass., dispatch states that Edward M. Nawes, manager of the athletics at the University of Washington, in a letter from Seattle to a friend, here, declared the intention of Washington next year to be represented by two crews at the big Poughkeepsie College regatta. Nawes also says that there is a strong likelihood that Ieland Stanford University will enter a crew for the regatta.

A Happy Man

is Amos F. King, of Port Byron, N. Y., 85 years of age, since a sore on his leg, which had troubled him the greater part of his life, has been entirely healed by Bucklen's Arnica Salve; the world's great healer of Sores, Burns, Cuts, Wounds and Piles. Guaranteed by Chas. Rogers, druggist. Price 25c.

IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE.

It makes all the difference in the world to the convivial man where, and what, he drinks. Most men desire beauty and cleanliness, and handsome appointments in the saloon they patronize regularly, as well as the essential pre-requisite of genuine wines and liquors that are served to them. And these things are so particularly and properly conspicuous at Otto Sund's elegant resort, the Commercial, at No. 509 on the street of that name that they account thoroughly for the fixed and splendid custom he enjoys. There is nothing allowed to pass his counter but the best and choicest in every department of indulgence, and the service behind it all, is the most pleasing and satisfying in the city.
